TAX TO GO OVER

Senate Caucus Makes Short Work of Clarke Amendment.

Incipient Outbreak Against the Tariff Bill Forces a Democratic Caucus, Which Agrees to Stand by the Report of the Conference Committee. Pomerene Fighting For Amendment Taxing Wine.

Washington, Oct. 2 .- An inciplent revolt against the tariff bill among Democratic senators forced the calling of a party caucus. After several hours of debate the "uprising" was subdued and the Democratic senators, by a caucus vote of 33 to 6, agreed to stand by the report of the conference committee.

At the same time the caucus made short work of the Clarke cotton futures amendment by agreeing unant mously to recede from it and to disagree to the Smith-Lever amendment voted into the bill by the house. This action by the senate caucus eliminates the cotton futures tax legislation from the tariff bill, as the senate leaders have assurances that the house will agree to recede from the Smith-Lever amendment. The cotton futures legislation will then go over to the regular session in December.

The certainty that most serious objections would be offered in the senate to any such agreement as Japan is supposed to be contemplating makes the situation more embarrass ing. Rejection by the senate would have a far worse effect on the rela tions between the two governments than a refusal by the administration, because of the extended discussion of the entire Japanese question which would be sure to accompany consideration of the matter in the senate.

MEEKISON ACCUSED BY A TOLEDO MAN

Laiter Says He Was Offered $1,000 For Petitions.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 2 .- At the trial of C. C. Meekison, auditor of Henry county, and J. D. Cargould, political worker of Akron, charged with attempted burglary here, E. H. Eckert of Toledo testified that Meekison planned to rob agents of the Ohio Equity association of petitions for referendums on the Warnes and Kilpatrick tax laws, when they were taking them to Columbus, if the contemplated burglary of the association's offices here falled.

Eckert, legislative representative of the Toledo Rall and Light company, testified that Meekison offered him-$1,000 if he would get a man into theoffices of the Equity association to steal petitions. Eckert said Meekison told him in Cleveland that he had obtained a key to the Equity association's offices from C. A. Dimm of Clyde, who he had placed there, he said, as a clerk and to be his spy.
